Case study 1. Lidia

Lidia was the senior sales assistant for a local fashion retailer. A routine breast check revealed a lump which was diagnosed as breast cancer. Following initial surgery the cancer was found to have spread to her lymph nodes.

Over the course of two years Lidia underwent hormone therapy, chemotherapy, radiotherapy and additional surgery. Because of this she was unable to work for a full two year period. Lidia is now in remission and has returned to work on a part time basis.

Case study 2. Bill

Bill Johnson was the sales manager at a mid size manufacturing firm located in Melbourne. The company just celebrated excellent half yearly results when Bill became ill with flu like symptoms aching muscles and lethargy.

After three weeks of tests he was diagnosed with chronic fatigue syndrome. Bill used up all of his accrued leave and the company feeling sympathetic to his situation continued to pay him for another four months. Bill was still unable to return to work and having used most of his savings his wife returned to full time work to help pay the mortgage and living expenses.

If Bill’s employer had purchased Zurich’s Corporate Personal Accident and Sickness Insurance, Bill would have been entitled to a weekly benefit under his Employers Group Personal Accident program for the period of his illness.
