

ZURICH®

Cargo Handling Facility Liability Insurance

Features and benefits

EXPERTISE • SERVICE • SECURITY

Zurich provides liability insurance for marine terminals, stevedores, inland clearance depots, container freight stations, intermodal rail depots, container storage depots, airfreight handling terminals and much more.

Facilities of this type may be held liable for damage to a customer's cargo, containers, ships or even trains. Cargo handling facility operators are exposed to a wide variety of marine and land based liability risks and are subject to international and domestic legal regimes.

Zurich's package of insurance and risk management services has been designed to provide a comprehensive insurance solution for cargo handling facility operators' liability exposures that can be tailored to suit individual requirements.

Our specialists have extensive cargo handling and transport risk experience covering risk surveyors, maritime lawyers and underwriters.

Our Cargo Handling Facility Liability Insurance standard cover includes:

- liability for loss or damage to cargo and containers including consequential loss
- liability to third parties, both property damage and personal injury
- liability for operational services including lifting, marshalling, storage, distribution, loading and unloading
- fines and penalties
- liabilities and expenses arising from a pollution incident
- liabilities arising from errors and omissions including delay and consequential loss
- legal, defence and other costs.

We can also offer the following optional additional benefits:

- liability as a tenant of premises
- consultancy services liability
- hull and protection & indemnity cover for port vessels
- infringement of personal rights liability.

Widely regarded as Australia's leading marine insurer with over 30 years specialisation in cargo, transport and hull insurance.
