Zurich Active
Supplementary Product Disclosure Statement

This document is a Supplementary Product Disclosure Statement (SPDS) for the Zurich Active Product Disclosure Statement (PDS) dated 29 March 2021 and must be read together with the PDS.

This SPDS has been issued to correct an error and specify the total disability definition that applies after 24 months of benefits have been paid under Zurich Income Protector.

Change to the PDS:
The following definition replaces the definition on page 92 of the PDS.

| totally disabled (for Zurich Income Protector) means solely as a result of a sickness or injury, the life insured is both:
| • not working in paid work
| • unable to do one or more of the important income-producing duties of their primary occupation.

We’ll use the life insured’s primary occupation in the 12 consecutive months immediately before the claim to measure the reduction.

’Solely’ means that no benefit is payable where reduced income or inability to work is caused by anything other than sickness or injury. For example, we won’t pay a benefit if the life insured’s professional qualification is revoked due to misconduct or if their employer stops trading.

The life insured must be following the advice and recommended treatment of a medical practitioner.

The definition changes if the life insured becomes totally disabled when they haven’t been working for more than 12 consecutive months due to unemployment, long service leave or parental leave. In this case, ability to work is based on any occupation they are reasonably qualified for by education, training, or experience.

After we pay 24 months of total disability benefits, partial disability benefits or a combination of both, the definition changes. Ability to work is no longer based on a specific occupation. The life insured is only totally disabled from that point onwards if:

• they are not working in paid work
• they are unable to do one or more of the important income-producing duties of each occupation they are reasonably qualified for by education, training, or experience
• they are following the advice and recommended treatment of a medical practitioner.
